The Social Chase, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to creating inclusive opportunities for neurodivergent (and disabilities) teens and adults. Through advocacy, resource connections, and social programming, The Social Chase builds communities where everyone has the opportunity to belong and succeed.

Our flagship community event is an annual Free Autism Education and Awareness Forum, held in Waterbury in order to bring resources and information to families and caregivers who do not have the financial means to attend an expensive conference to be educated about their rights and available services for their loved ones on the spectrum. Save the date for next forum: April 3, 2027.

One of our favorite events each year is a coach bus trip to a major city to go to dinner and a show as a group. This gives our members the opportunity to visit iconic landmarks while practicing navigating the emotional and logistical stress of traveling. Last year's Gala fundraiser is supporting the NYC trip on November 21.

We also host an Independent Retreat Overnight Stay at a Madison beach house, during which our members enjoy a weekend away with friends while practicing cooking skills and attending workshops in healthy living, conflict resolution, navigating friendships and relationships, as well as setting and reflecting on goals with a life coach.

This is our third year partnering with the Mattatuck Museum in Waterbury to collaborate on an art exhibit. The Free to Be Me Art Exhibit celebrates the creativity and vision of artists on the autism spectrum, showcasing their unique perspectives through a wide range of media and styles. The Mattuck Museum is receiving an Award of Merit from the Connecticut League of Museums for our Social Chase Free to Be Art Exhibition on Oct 27 at New Britain Museum of Art!

Ongoing events include bi-weekly virtual Bingo run by our Social Chase Leads, Emalee, Sarah and Chase. We host various "Free To Be Me" inclusive events by renting out Urban Air Indoor Trampoline Park to allow our members full enjoyment of these environments without the stress of crowds. We also partner with local businesses and professionals to offer art classes, self-defense classes, cooking classes, and game nights at Post University.

In collaboration with Aspritech, we are starting our pilot program this month to provide Free IT certification classes to the Social Chasers at the PeoplesPlace in Waterbury.

Your donations - large and small - go directly to offering these events at no or very low cost to our members, providing them opportunities to form friendships, enjoy social activities, and continue to build their skills as we all continue to chase a social life. The Social Chase is an exclusively volunteer run organization, kept together by the tireless work of our Founder, Helen Taylor, with help from the Social Chasers and their families who work together to organize and run events, along with the ongoing support of her husband, family, friends, coworkers, and a hard working board of directors.

Jordan L., Matthew, Chanel, Jordan S., Marcello, Quinton, Jeremiah, Maggie, Daniel, Pierce and David

Welcome! What a blessing! I am deeply moved by the immense support, kindness, and love shown for our major fundraiser supporting the autism/neurodivergent and disability community including allies. Our organization is as diverse as all of you who walked in this door. It's a beautiful thing!

Thank you to everyone who sponsored the Gala, volunteered, purchased ads, donated auction prizes, and/or bought tickets for our Social Chasers—and yes, we noticed those extra Free to Be Me donations! A special thank you to the Gala Committee for your tireless volunteer work, to our family and friends for your unwavering love, and to the Social Chase Board of Directors for the "bossy" loving reminders that I do not have to do this alone.

Big Shout Out to the Social Chasers representing tonight!

A loving shoutout to our son, Chase Taylor, our inspiration and the heart of our advocacy. We are equally grateful for big brother Chad's support of his little brother. A heartfelt thank you to my husband, Alan, for his loving support of my advocacy after work, late nights and on the weekends and volunteering your incredible hosting and DJ talents this evening.

Our journey began when Chase was diagnosed at 3½ years old. That moment sparked our mission to better understand autism and support not only our son but other families. In 2006, Alan and I formed Team Chase and Friends to support the Greater Hartford Autism Speaks Walk. In 2010, we founded Western Connecticut Autism Speaks Walk in Waterbury for ten years. Still advocating!

We are especially blessed to welcome back the legendary Chris "Big Dog" Davis with friends Will Prince and Timmy Maia and who reminds me he does this for Chase. We hope you enjoy the Gala and spread the word!

Thank you Zac Boulier (video), Clay Johnson (photography) and Victoria Pasion-Destefano (photography) for sharing your gift and capturing the evening!

The Social Chase CARE AWARD

Tonight, we dedicate the Social Chase Care Awards to caring community supportors of the autism and disabilities community with amazing entertainment by 2x Grammy-nominated producer Chris "Big Dog" Davis featuring Will Prince and Timmy Maia with Host and DJ Al Taylor.

Chief Spagnolo, Jr., continued the support of the autism community with open arms. I was worried after Chief Vern left if we would have the same awesome support of our Waterbury Police officers. The chief was fully supportive of ensuring we had the "blue envelopes" at our events and the I HAVE AUTISM ID cards Chase and I created. He continued to recoginze April as Autism Awarness month. In addition, he asked me to expand my Autism Safety and Wandering training to the cadets.

My Alma Mater Post University really came through for us! Karin Mann is being honored for supporting Post University's remarkable partnership with The Social Chase since 2018. Under her leadership, student-athletes have shared their time playing games and building acceptance with our Social Chasers, including during virtual bingo even throughout the pandemic. This enduring partnership demonstrates the power of inclusion, meaningful connections, and community service.

Brian J. Mongelluzzo, esq. is being honored for his exceptional generosity and leadership support of the autism advocacy and other vunerable citizens. We met Brian with very long hair and when asked he said he grows his hair to donate to cancer survivors! Through walk sponsorships, public awareness efforts, committee leadership, and providing meeting space when needed, he has consistently supported individuals and families affected by autism. His compassion and commitment to community service exemplify the spirit of the Social Chase Care Award.

Sarah Martello is being honored for her dedication to building friendship and belonging within The Social Chase community. Through her leadership of Social Chase Bingo nights, she brings people together through laughter, shared experiences, and connection. As an autism sibling, her commitment with the Social Chase and Special Olypics reflects our mission to create an inclusive community where our vulnerable individuals feel welcomed, valued, and free to be themselves.

Lakeshia Chapman and Jewell Covington are the dynamic duo of volunteers! Helen met them through the Diversity Council at work, and their connection grew into a lasting friendship rooted in service. When Alan and Helen launched the Autism Speaks Walk in Waterbury, both immediately responded, "Whatever you need, Helen," taking on the challenging T-shirt booth at a major national event serving thousands of participants. Not an easy task helping with thousands of people.

Their commitment continued year after year, not only supporting the Western Connecticut Autism Speaks Walk but also volunteering at the Brass City Jazz Fest. Equally meaningful is their dedication to involving their children and grandchildren in volunteering, passing the spirit of giving to the next generation. Their reliability, generosity, and willingness to step up whenever needed make them truly deserving of the Social Chase Care Award.

ATTORNEY BRIAN J. MONGELLUZZO, ESQ.

BJM Law

Brian J. Mongelluzzo founded the Law Offices of Brian J. Mongelluzzo, LLC (BJM Law) — a dedicated personal injury firm based in Waterbury—in January 2004, and brings over 25 years of experience representing the injured. A Waterbury native and Holy Cross High School graduate, he earned his degree in psychology magna cum laude from Saint Peter's College in 1994 and graduated with honors from the University of Connecticut School of Law in 1997. Brian began his legal career in insurance defense in Atlanta before returning home to put that insider knowledge to work for injured individuals. He is licensed in both Connecticut and Georgia and has been a Board Certified Workers' Compensation Specialist since 2012.

Autism advocacy has long been a cause deeply personal to Brian. He previously served as the Corporate Development Chair for the Waterbury Autism Speaks Walk, playing a key role in bringing the event to the local community. His past involvement with the Western Connecticut Autism Speaks Walk included sponsoring a media PSA on NBC Connecticut featuring the Taylor family, supporting the event over the years as a corporate sponsor, and fielding the BJM Law Walk Team for several years. When the walk committee needed a central location to plan their efforts, Brian opened his firm's conference room doors, offering the space for as long as they needed.

In his free time, Brian loves golfing, watching football, and spending quality time with his family. Looking ahead, he also aspires to step onto the stage as a motivational speaker to share his experiences and inspire others. He and his wife, Beth, have two daughters and are the loving "Poppi" and "GiGi" to their two amazing grandchildren.

As one of the community liaisons for Mount Olive COGIC's outreach ministry, Keshia has led the church's Thanksgiving Basket Drive for the past 16 years. Under her leadership, an initiative that began by serving 35 families has grown, through generous donations and collaborative efforts, to provide complete Thanksgiving meals for up to 110 families, feeding more than 250 people annually.

For more than 25 years, Keshia has generously contributed her time and resources to volunteer efforts, including annual volunteer events organized by her employer, Eversource. Over the past 15 years, her service has included supporting Black Women United events, Chase and Friends initiatives, the Autism Speaks Walk, the Brass City Jazz Fest, and the Ungroup Prom Dress Giveaway.

Jewell’s life is rooted in family, service, and a love of making memories. She enjoys photography, music, travel, and golf, and as a trained drummer, music has always been a special part of her life.
