

Where You Are Today	Where You Will Be
You spend an inordinate amount of time on research and analysis without positive results	✓ Execute efficient, focused analysis that consistently produces profitable results
You constantly second-guess yourself	✓ Trade with conviction and confidence in your decisions
You can't pull the trigger to place a trade	✓ Pull the trigger without hesitation when your setup appears
You exit trades too soon only to watch them go in your favor afterward	✓ Hold winning trades to their full profit potential based on your plan
You lock in the first small profit out of fear and watch the trade keep running without you	✓ Embrace calculated risk as part of the process and let winners run
You let a single bad trade wipe out days or months of work	✓ Protect your account with position sizing rules that cap your downside
You rely on charts and indicators to drive every trading decision	✓ Make trading decisions based on probabilities, mechanics, and proven strategies
You believe the market makers are out to "get you"	✓ Understand market dynamics and use them to your advantage
You live in "woulda, coulda, shoulda" after every missed trade	✓ Execute your plan without regret or second-guessing
You are so frustrated you are ready to throw in the towel	✓ Trade with clarity, purpose, and renewed passion for the process

"Every trader on the right side of this page was once on the left. The only difference is the method."
