

Vitalis organizes multidisciplinary expertise into a usable operating model: intake, routing, training, role clarity, quality control and measurable outcomes. We lead the program layer and integrate qualified specialists where credentials or technology require it.

CORE COMPETENCIES

- Program integration and operating-model design. Current-state assessment, SOP libraries, role and competency matrices, implementation playbooks and governance.
- Workforce enablement. Train-the-trainer curriculum, facilitator toolkits, competency verification and master-trainer models that build in-house capability rather than long-term dependency.
- Standardized intake and routing frameworks. Non-diagnostic pathways with defined escalation and referral criteria, designed to fit approved medical and readiness pathways.
- Measurement and quality assurance. KPI dictionaries, MOP/MOE frameworks, fidelity reviews, corrective-action tracking and continuous improvement.
- Health and wellness education. Workshops, cohort programs and practitioner education for government, contractor and corporate audiences.

OUR APPROACH

MEASURE

SCALE

Every deliverable is built for reuse, so a successful pilot becomes a replicable enterprise package: operating manual, training modules, site-readiness checklist and rollout roadmap.

TEAMING MODEL

Hub-and-spoke. Vitalis owns program integration, curriculum, QA and measurement. Qualified partners own regulated and technical lanes: physical performance and MSK, performance nutrition, cognitive performance, and secure technology and data. Vitalis can lead a defined program-integration or workforce-development workstream, or serve as a specialized team member under a qualified prime.

EXPERIENCE AND BOUNDARIES

Founder-led, with about 30 years of healthcare and wellness experience across women's health, neuromuscular and manual therapy, health consulting, practitioner education, employer wellness and curriculum development.

Vitalis does not claim prior Navy or large-scale DoD HPO prime-contract performance. Regulated clinical, nutrition and behavioral-health services are delivered only by appropriately licensed and credentialed professionals. Technology and cybersecurity are provided through qualified partners. No partner is represented as committed until a formal commitment exists.
