

90-Day Warranty

Added peace of mind after your home inspection

Provided through JVC Home Inspections for eligible inspections.
This client-friendly guide explains what the 90-Day Warranty means, why it matters, and how it helps protect buyers after the inspection.

A warranty does not replace a complete home inspection. It is an additional protection benefit designed to support eligible clients if certain covered issues appear shortly after the inspection or closing.

What This Means When You Choose JVC

When JVC Home Inspections includes the 90-Day Warranty with an eligible inspection, it gives the buyer an extra layer of confidence after the inspection is complete. The program is designed as a repair reimbursement benefit for certain covered items, subject to the warranty terms, registration, property eligibility, and plan limits.

Plain-English Meaning	If a covered issue appears shortly after the inspection or closing, the client may be able to submit a warranty claim for eligible reimbursement instead of feeling completely alone after the purchase.
Why JVC Offers It	JVC already focuses on detailed inspections, professional reporting, and client education. The 90-Day Warranty adds another layer of trust by helping protect clients during the transition into the home.
Important Distinction	This is not the same as the InterNACHI $25,000 Honor Guarantee. The Honor Guarantee relates to theft protection during an inspection. The 90-Day Warranty relates to eligible covered defects or repairs discovered after the inspection.

Client Confidence Message

With JVC Home Inspections, clients receive more than a report. They receive guidance, documentation, and added post-inspection protection designed to create a more confident home-buying experience.

90-Day Warranty: Key Details

The exact warranty terms may depend on the active plan, eligibility rules, and the official warranty terms and conditions. The following is a client-friendly overview based on InterNACHI warranty information.

Term	InterNACHI describes the term as 90 days from closing or 120 days from the inspection date, whichever comes first.
Deductible	InterNACHI FAQ states there is no deductible for the warranty program.
Repair Process	The program is described as a repair reimbursement program. Clients may choose their own contractor, subject to claim requirements and terms.
Eligible Properties	InterNACHI FAQ states coverage may apply to one- and two-family homes, as well as condominiums and townhomes, excluding common areas.
Limitations	Coverage is subject to terms, conditions, registration requirements, exclusions, plan limits, and whether the issue was inspected and not reported as defective.

Suggested Website Copy

90-Day Warranty Included with Eligible Inspections

JVC Home Inspections offers eligible clients added peace of mind through a 90-Day Warranty program. This benefit is designed to help protect buyers from certain covered issues that may appear shortly after the inspection or closing, subject to warranty terms and eligibility.

Source references: InterNACHI Inspection Warranty page and Inspection Warranty FAQ. Always verify current eligibility, registration, coverage limits, and exclusions with the active warranty provider before making final claims in marketing materials.