ABOUT US

Welcome to Stacks Vending, founded in 2022. With a strong background in the construction industry, we recognized the growing need for convenience when it comes to accessing meals, snacks, and drinks on job sites. Our vending machines are designed to meet this need, offering easy, reliable access to a wide variety of products, all powered by the latest in technology, including app-controlled features for monitoring inventory levels.

Since our inception, we have been fortunate to work with some of the largest construction and development companies, providing smart vending solutions that keep workers fueled and productive throughout the day. At Stacks Vending, we are dedicated to offering convenience, quality, and exceptional service while supporting causes that matter.

WHY SHOULD YOU HIRE A VENDING MACHINE?

Boosts Efficiency

Time is money on a construction site. By providing on-site vending machines, workers have immediate access to snacks, beverages, and essential supplies without leaving the premises. This minimizes downtime and keeps projects on track.

Health & Safety

Construction work is physically demanding, making proper hydration and energy levels essential for safety. On-site vending machines provide quick access to snacks and drinks, helping workers stay fuelled and focused — reducing the risk of fatigue related accidents. Offering healthier snack options also encourages better nutrition, supporting overall wellbeing on the job.

Convenience

With vending machines strategically placed on-site, workers can quickly grab refreshments or necessary items at any hour. This 24/7 accessibility ensures that both day and night shifts are well-supported, catering to the demanding schedules of construction projects.

Time & Cost Savings

By reducing the need for workers to leave the site for supplies or refreshments, vending machines help save valuable time and reduce labor costs. Additionally, automated inventory tracking minimizes waste and ensures essential items are always in stock, leading to significant cost savings.

We proudly support the i4give Foundation

What sets us apart is our commitment to giving back. We started this venture in partnership with the i4give Foundation, where a portion of our funds directly supports their mission to spread the message of forgiveness and promote mental health awareness. In addition to this, we now offer clients the option to allocate an extra percentage of proceeds to a charity of their choice, making every purchase even more meaningful.
