

THE CHEEKY BUTLERS · NO. 02 · THE HOLIDAY EDIT

sip sip hooray

PARTY GAMES · ADULTS ONLY

The Holiday Games Playbook

Twenty-eight games we actually run at parties — one set for every holiday, from Halloween to Cinco de Mayo.

28 GAMES · 7 HOLIDAYS

YOU HOST. WE RUN THE GAMES.

35 US CITIES

Dear Host,

You already did the hard part — the invites, the snacks, the fourteen group-chat opinions. This is the easy part.

Inside are 28 games we actually run at parties, sorted by holiday, each built to get a quiet room laughing in under five minutes. Play them with your crew, or hand the booklet to a Cheeky Butler and let him run the whole thing while you finally sit down.

With love (and a little cheek),
The Cheeky Butlers

HOW TO USE THIS BOOKLET

- 01 Jump to your holiday. Each section has four games built for grown-ups.
 - 02 Pick two or three, not all of them — leave room for the night to breathe.
 - 03 Want someone to run every one of these for you? That's literally the job → (561) 690-7591.
-

01 · OCT 31
Halloween

02 · NOVEMBER
Friendsgiving

03 · DECEMBER
Christmas

04 · DEC 31
New Year's Eve

05 · FEB 13
Galentine's Day

06 · MAR 17
St. Patrick's Day

07 · MAY 5
Cinco de Mayo

Halloween party games for adults

The only thing that should die tonight is the playlist.

Four games for the grown-up costume party — warm the room up, crown a winner, get the group photo, and turn your butler into the main event.

01

ICEBREAKER

Two Truths and a Fright

Each guest tells two true creepy-or-embarrassing stories and one they made up. The group votes on the lie. Best liars and worst storytellers both get exposed fast.

| Butler move — he keeps score as your "spooky narrator," reading the votes back in his most dramatic voice.

02

COMPETITION

Scream Queen Trivia

Split into teams and run a round of horror-movie and Halloween trivia. Fastest hand to answer wins the point; most points takes the crown.

| Butler move — he's the quizmaster, not above awarding bonus points to whoever's nicest to him.

03

BIG GROUP MOMENT

The Séance Selfie

Lights off, one candle, everyone in costume leans in for one over-dramatic "ghost reveal" group photo. Count to three, strike your spookiest pose, flash on.

| Butler move — he lights the candle, sets the frame, and photobombs the second one.

04

BUTLER-STARRING

Dress the Deadly-Handsome

Two teams, one roll of toilet paper and a pile of props each, three minutes to turn your butler (or a volunteer) into the best Halloween look. The room votes.

| Butler move — he stands very, very still and strikes a pose at the end. Mostly still.

Want the full plan? Halloween party ideas →

KW · HALLOWEEN PARTY GAMES FOR ADULTS

Friendsgiving party games for adults

Chosen family. Unhinged energy.

Four games for the feast with your favourite people — warm, loud, a little emotional by dessert, and built so the host isn't the only one working.

01

ICEBREAKER

The Gratitude Roast

Each person says one genuinely nice thing about the friend on their left — immediately followed by one loving little jab. Sweet, then savage, then the next person.

| Butler move — he goes last, with a heartfelt-then-ruthless line ready for everyone.

02

COMPETITION

Friendsgiving Feud

Two teams. Read a prompt ("most likely to burn the turkey") and both guess the group's most popular answer. Closest to the room's real vote wins the round.

| Butler move — he's the host, reading answers off the cards with full game-show gravity.

03

BIG GROUP MOMENT

The Toast Chain

One person starts a thankful toast; the next repeats it and adds a line; it builds all the way round until the last person recites the whole thing. End on the table photo.

| Butler move — he keeps every glass full so nobody toasts empty — and takes the final photo.

04

BUTLER-STARRING

Carve the Host a Break

The host has done enough. Your butler (or a volunteer) gives a theatrical "presentation" of the meal, course by course, like a five-star waiter who's had three espresso martinis.

| Butler move — he introduces the mashed potatoes like a Michelin dish. Napkin over the arm.

Want the full plan? Friendsgiving ideas →

KW · FRIENDSGIVING PARTY GAMES FOR ADULTS

Christmas party games for adults

Deck the halls. We'll pour.

Four games for the grown-up Christmas party — office do, friends' night or girls' night in — built to work in a crowded living room with a drink in everyone's hand.

01

ICEBREAKER

Sweater Weather Confessions

Everyone's in their worst festive knit. Each person gives the invented "tragic backstory" of their sweater — where it came from, why it must never be washed. Best story wins.

| Butler move — he introduces each sweater like a runway announcer at the world's ugliest fashion week.

02

COMPETITION

Wrap Battle

Two teams, one oddly-shaped object each (a pineapple, a whisk, someone's shoe), sixty seconds to gift-wrap it beautifully. Judge on looks alone. Bonus for a bow under pressure.

| Butler move — he's the judge, and takes "presentation" deeply, unreasonably seriously.

03

BIG GROUP MOMENT

Elf on the Shelfie

The group recreates the cheesiest holiday-card pose — matching smiles, one person inexplicably kneeling at the front. Three takes, pick the worst on purpose. That's the card.

| Butler move — he directs it like a stressed family photographer, then jumps in for the last frame.

04

BUTLER-STARRING

Deck the Butler

Two teams, a pile of tinsel and baubles, two minutes to decorate your butler (or a volunteer) into the finest Christmas tree the party has seen. Most festive wins.

| Butler move — he stands tall, arms out like branches, and lets the star go exactly where you'd expect.

Want the full plan? Christmas party ideas →

KW · CHRISTMAS PARTY GAMES FOR ADULTS

New Year's Eve party games for adults

Same champagne. No cover charge.

Four games to carry the room from "we've got hours to kill" all the way to the midnight toast — hosted at your place, not a packed club.

01

ICEBREAKER

Resolution Roulette

Everyone writes one (ideally ridiculous) resolution and drops it in a bowl. Draw them one at a time; the room guesses who wrote each. The more unhinged, the easier to get caught.

| Butler move — he reads each resolution like he genuinely believes you'll keep it.

02

COMPETITION

Countdown Trivia

Teams race through a round of year-in-review trivia — the movies, the songs, the moments everyone pretends they didn't follow. Most points before the clock's up wins.

| Butler move — he's the quizmaster and timekeeper, counting down with far too much flair.

03

BIG GROUP MOMENT

The Midnight Pose

Just before the countdown, the group crowds in for the champagne-up, confetti-ready shot. On "one," glasses up, confetti off, flash fires. Your first post of the year.

| Butler move — he pours the tower at 11:59 so nobody's empty-handed at midnight.

04

BUTLER-STARRING

Midnight Kiss, Interrupted

Stick a paper "target" on your butler's (or a volunteer's) cheek. Blindfold a player, spin once, send them in to land a lipstick kiss as close as possible. Closest wins; everyone else gets the photo.

| Butler move — he stands very still and lets the lipstick land wherever fate decides.

Want the full plan? New Year's Eve party ideas →

KW · NEW YEARS EVE PARTY GAMES FOR ADULTS

Galentine's Day party games for the girls

Flowers wilt. The group chat is forever.

Four games for the girls' night that beats Valentine's — sweet, a little savage, and built to celebrate the women who actually show up.

01

ICEBREAKER

Galentine's Gush

Everyone writes an anonymous compliment about another girl and drops it in a bowl. Read them one by one; the group guesses who wrote each, and who it's about. Happy tears by the third card.

| Butler move — he reads every compliment like a love letter, because to him, it is.

02

COMPETITION

The Ex-Factor

Two teams. Each sends up their best "dodged a bullet" ex story — the wilder the red flag, the better. The room votes on the most spectacular escape. Winner takes the title.

| Butler move — he hosts, and reacts to every red flag with the horror it deserves.

03

BIG GROUP MOMENT

The Love-You-Most Toast

Pink drinks up, everyone in their Galentine's best, crowd in for the group photo at your decor wall. One person toasts "the best table in the city," and the flash catches the room mid-cheers.

| Butler move — he pours the pink, frames the shot, puts the birthday-energy girl dead centre.

04

BUTLER-STARRING

Build Your Dream Date

Two teams, a pile of props, three minutes to style your butler (or a volunteer) into their idea of the "perfect Valentine." He walks it; the room judges the look and the lore.

| Butler move — he commits fully to whichever ridiculous dream date he's been turned into.

Want the full plan? Galentine's Day party ideas →

KW · GALENTINES DAY PARTY GAMES

St. Patrick's Day party games for adults

The only pinching allowed is for no green.

Four games for the best day-drink of the year — low effort, high craic, and built so the host isn't stuck behind the bar all afternoon.

01

ICEBREAKER

The Luck of the Draw

Everyone draws a slip with a cheeky "Irish fortune" and reads it aloud in their best (terrible) accent. Fortunes range from flattering to cursed. The room rates the accent and the acceptance.

| Butler move — he reads his own last, in an accent that belongs in no country on earth.

02

COMPETITION

Pot of Gold Hunt

Before guests arrive, hide gold-wrapped chocolates (or "gold" tokens) around the space. On "go," teams race to collect the most in two minutes. Most gold wins; hoarding encouraged.

| Butler move — he hides the gold and gives maddeningly cryptic "warmer / colder" hints.

03

BIG GROUP MOMENT

The Pinch-Proof Photo

Everyone in green crowds in for the group shot — the louder the green, the better. Anyone caught without green goes front and centre to be lovingly shamed. Three, two, one, flash.

| Butler move — he runs "pinch patrol" and herds the no-green offenders into the front row.

04

BUTLER-STARRING

Find the Four-Leaf Clover

Pin several paper clovers on your butler (or a volunteer) — only one is the lucky four-leaf. Blindfold a player, spin once, and they feel for the lucky clover while the room shouts "warmer / colder."

| Butler move — he stands very still and keeps the hints suspiciously honest.

Want the full plan? St. Patrick's Day party ideas →

KW · ST PATRICKS DAY PARTY GAMES FOR ADULTS

Cinco de Mayo party games for adults

One margarita in, everyone's bilingual.

Four games for the fiesta — built to celebrate the food, the music and the colour of the day, and to keep the host out of the kitchen and in the sun.

01

ICEBREAKER

Name That Heat

Line up a few salsas and hot sauces from mild to merciless, numbered, not labelled. Everyone tastes and ranks them by heat. Closest ranking wins; the bravest palate earns respect.

| Butler move — he serves each taste with a dramatic warning and a glass of milk on standby.

02

COMPETITION

Lotería Night

Play a few rounds of Lotería, the classic Mexican picture-matching game — hand out the cards, call the images one by one, and the first to complete a card shouts "¡Lotería!" A beautiful tradition, best played loud.

| Butler move — he's the caller, "el cantor," announcing each card with full theatrical flourish.

03

BIG GROUP MOMENT

Margarita Masters

Split into teams, each with a base, mixers and garnishes to invent their own signature margarita. Name it, present it, and the room toasts the winner. The photo is everyone raising their creation.

| Butler move — he runs the bar, shakes each invention to order, and announces the winner.

04

BUTLER-STARRING

The Fiesta Host-Off

Your butler (or a volunteer) runs a quick margarita-shaking showcase — over the shoulder, behind the back — while the room scores pure showmanship out of ten. Style counts far more than spillage.

| Butler move — he spins the shaker and bows whether or not he earned it.

Want the full plan? Cinco de Mayo party ideas →

KW · CINCO DE MAYO PARTY GAMES FOR ADULTS

LAST CALL

Want someone to run every one of these?

That's the whole job — pour the drinks, host the games, keep the night moving, so you get to be a guest at your own party. In 35 US cities.

Text to book · (561) 690-7591

P.S. The games are free forever. The guy who makes them legendary is a text away.