TWO BY NINE · ELEVATED EXECUTION: AI

AI, minus the hype

Everyone is talking about AI. Almost no one is saying what it should actually do inside your business. The first 90 days answer that, and map exactly where it belongs.

This is for you if

- You're close to the work and can see where the hours go
- Your team already uses AI tools, with no shared rules for how
- Leaders spend too much time chasing updates and fixing the same handoffs
- You want results you can measure, not another subscription

The first 90 days: Diagnose and Map

1. Diagnose. A close look at how work moves across operations, finance, people and client service, and where the manual work and missed handoffs really live.
2. Map. Where AI and automation earn their place, where they waste time, and where they aren't OK at all, laid out against the tools you already use.

What you walk away with

Not your typical AI playbook
It sets up real implementation, training and SOPs, including when AI isn't OK. Yours in month one.

Clear ownership
Who owns each process, the deadlines, and where things escalate.

Visibility without chasing
Reporting on delivery, capacity and cost that you can rely on.

Then: Build and Implement
After 90 days, the map goes to work, run by your team or built together.

What changes

Fewer manual tasks and missed handoffs. Your leaders stop chasing updates and get back to the work only they can do. And AI becomes part of how the business runs, with rules your team actually follows.

NEXT STEP

A 20-minute conversation about where AI fits in your business and whether this is the right move.

Jennifer Ramirez
Two By Nine · book.twobynine.com