Know where to begin.

A focused company database for businesses that want to manage their own sales and outreach.

A clearer starting point

Tell us the country, business type and roles you want to reach. We research relevant companies and deliver a structured Microsoft Excel (.xlsx) file your team can use for its own sales activity.

One prospect. One company.

One company can have several useful decision-makers. Where available, those additional contacts can be included, but the company still counts as one prospect.

Your target, defined

- Each 100-company batch covers one country and one niche or business type.
- Larger orders can use separate batches for different markets.
- Where suitable, request up to about five relevant decision-maker roles or departments.

For example

A German machinery distributor with three useful business contacts still counts as one company in your batch.

Useful details. Ready to use.

Company-level research, with relevant professional contact information where available.

Company information

- Company name and website
- Country and business location
- Estimated employee strength or company size
- Founded year or years in business

Decision-maker information

- Relevant full names and business roles
- Job title, department or function
- Professional LinkedIn profiles
- Time in the company, where available

Minimum qualification

Before a company counts as a qualified delivered prospect, it should have at least one usable business email and at least one usable business phone number.

Professional information

We focus on business-facing information. Personal email addresses, private mobile numbers and unrelated personal information are not intentionally supplied.

Your database

The delivered database belongs to you for legitimate business use, subject to applicable laws and your own compliance responsibilities.

Less time searching. More time for the conversation.
