

DISCLAIMER

Last Updated: October 2026

The information, programs, workshops, coaching, mentoring, speaking engagements, assessments, educational resources, and other services offered by TammyRenee LLC are intended for educational, personal-development, professional-development, leadership-development, and business-development purposes.

Not Therapy or Mental-Health Treatment

TammyRenee LLC does not provide psychotherapy, psychiatric care, medical treatment, diagnosis, or licensed mental-health counseling through the WAVE™ website or its personal-development programs.

Programs such as The Inner WAVE™ may explore topics including self-awareness, mindset, boundaries, confidence, habits, relationships, energy, personal growth, intuition, time management, values, or life direction.

These discussions are intended to support reflection and personal development and are not a substitute for care provided by a qualified medical or mental-health professional.

Anyone experiencing a medical or mental-health concern should seek appropriate professional care.

Energy and Intuition Language

References to energy, intuition, awareness, presence, or similar concepts within TammyRenee's work are generally used within the context of personal awareness, communication, human interaction, leadership, relationships, customer experience, and personal development.

They should not be interpreted as medical diagnosis or treatment.

Business and Financial Disclaimer

Business strategy, entrepreneurship, market-entry discussion, networking strategy, Global Connection services, workshops, or related educational content do not guarantee revenue, clients, contracts, partnerships, market access, speaking opportunities, or financial results.

Research or recommendations regarding markets, organizations, events, associations, potential partners, or opportunities are provided for strategic and informational purposes.

Clients remain responsible for conducting appropriate due diligence and making their own business decisions.

Global and Cultural Information

Cultural-awareness and international-business information is intended to help clients ask better questions, become more aware of differences, and approach new environments thoughtfully.

Cultures, organizations, communities, and individuals are diverse. No cultural observation should be treated as universally applicable to every person within a country, region, or community.

Results

Every person and organization enters TammyRenee LLC programs with different circumstances, experiences, resources, capabilities, goals, and levels of implementation.

Accordingly, results cannot be guaranteed.

Personal Responsibility

By using this website or participating in TammyRenee LLC services, you acknowledge that you remain responsible for your decisions, actions, health, business choices, relationships, and results.