THE OFFER

Protect the idea before the first call gets it wrong.

Founders, artists, and brands research IP in detail before they call, and they often share too much too soon. A founder describing an invention in a web chat, or a brand owner who already launched, needs a careful first answer.

The agent answers in English and Spanish, sorts each inquiry into trademarks, patents, copyright, or infringement, records launch and disclosure dates, is set up to keep invention details out of chat, and books the right attorney. It never gives legal advice.

ANSWER

A bilingual front door, 24/7

Voice, text, and web chat, answered in English and Spanish with a target of under a minute. Callers in other languages go to a person or a scheduled callback.

SORT

Every inquiry by matter type and urgency

Trademarks, patents, copyright, someone is copying us, received a cease and desist, and licensing and IP deals. Urgent calls transfer live to the attorney on call, with a text alert if nobody picks up.

BOOK

Consults booked, conflicts checked

Collects every party name for your conflict check before any details, books the consultation, and runs reminders and reschedules.

BE FOUND

Named when clients ask AI

English and Spanish intellectual property pages that answer real questions, plus LegalService and Person schema for each attorney, so ChatGPT and Google can find and cite your firm by name.

The guardrails

- Inventions stay out of chat. The agent is instructed never to ask a founder how an invention works over text, chat, or voicemail.
- Disclosure dates flagged. Under U.S. patent law, an inventor's own public disclosure generally starts a one-year grace period to file (35 U.S.C. § 102(b)(1)).
- No clearance opinions. The agent never says a name is available or a work is protected.
- Other side named first. In infringement matters, the agent captures the other party before details so your firm can run conflicts.
- Clearly a law firm. The agent says it is an assistant, never an attorney.
