

Living in Smyrna

The Jonquil City, minutes from Atlanta.

Smyrna, known as the Jonquil City, sits between Marietta and Atlanta with a walkable city center at Market Village. It's a short drive to the Cumberland area, Truist Park and The Battery Atlanta, and it's the starting point of the Silver Comet Trail.

01 At a glance

- Market Village and the Village Green in downtown Smyrna
- The annual Jonquil Festival
- Silver Comet Trail, mile 0 at the Mavell Road Trailhead
- Taylor-Brawner Park and its historic buildings
- Nearby Cumberland, Truist Park and The Battery Atlanta

02 Parks & outdoors

- The Silver Comet Trail begins at the Mavell Road Trailhead in Smyrna and runs west as a paved rail-trail into Paulding and Polk counties.
- Taylor-Brawner Park on Atlanta Road has a playground, gazebos, open space and a walking trail.
- The Village Green in Market Village hosts outdoor concerts and community events.

03 Dining & gathering

Market Village gathers restaurants, coffee and events around the Village Green. More dining and shopping line Atlanta Road, Spring Road and the Cumberland area, with The Battery Atlanta just to the east.

04 Getting around

- I-285 and I-75 both border Smyrna, with quick access to Midtown, Buckhead and the airport via I-285.
- Cobb Parkway, South Cobb Drive and Atlanta Road are the main local routes.
- CobbLinc buses connect to the Cumberland Transfer Center.

05 Housing styles

- Brick ranches and bungalows from the 1950s and 1960s, many updated
- Townhomes and newer single-family construction near Market Village
- Condos and townhomes close to the Cumberland area
- Traditional two-story homes in established subdivisions
