C-IED Interdiction Kit

The EOD Gear C-IED Interdiction Kit is designed to support explosive ordnance disposal (EOD) technicians, bomb squads, and tactical units conducting counter-IED interdiction and remote access operations. The kit provides operators with the tools required to remotely manipulate, expose, and access suspected explosive hazards while maintaining critical stand-off distance. This kit contains the essential tools needed to conduct counter-IED interdiction operations, allowing operators to safely interact with suspicious devices, containers, or materials encountered during tactical missions. Components support remote line deployment, grappling, and controlled access to suspected threats.

All kits are assembled by EOD Gear under an ISO 9001:2015-certified Quality Management System to ensure consistent configuration and operational reliability. The C-IED Interdiction Kit is available for procurement through the EOD Gear GSA Schedule.

Kits are packaged in a durable protective case suitable for operational deployment. Configuration modifications and agency-specific kit configurations are available upon request.
