MORICON

Industry news / B2B thought-leadership article

Making legislation relevant to the people who have to apply it.

THE BRIEF	Introduce MORICON's Renters' Rights Act e-learning module while providing useful context for Build-to-Rent, PBSA and property-management teams.
MY ROLE	Industry article structure, proposition development, B2B copywriting and product/service positioning.
AUDIENCE	Build-to-Rent operators, PBSA providers and residential property-management teams.
APPROACH	Translate a major regulatory change into operational implications, explain the practical training solution and connect product features such as on-demand access and pay-as-you-go pricing to real property-team needs.

Renters' Rights Act: MORICON Launches E-Learning Module to Keep Property Teams Informed and Compliant

The Renters' Rights Act 2025 is one of the most significant overhauls of the private rented sector in decades.

For Build-to-Rent operators, PBSA providers, and property management teams, it is not simply a legal update to file away - it demands that frontline staff genuinely understand the changes and can apply them in their daily interactions with residents.

What the Module Covers

Rather than presenting legislation as abstract text, the content translates the Act's key provisions into clear, role-relevant knowledge.

Anywhere, Anytime, Any Device

There are no scheduled sessions, no classrooms, and no requirement to pull staff off the floor.

Training is standardised across every property and every new starter, regardless of location, without the logistical overhead of traditional delivery.

Flexible Pricing, Genuine Purpose

MORICON's pay-as-you-go model means operators are not required to commit to a large upfront licence.

MORICON's Renters' Rights Act module offers a practical, cost-effective route to ensuring every member of your team is informed, confident, and ready.
