CGC & Therapy Dog Test

The Canine Good Citizen (CGC) test is a comprehensive evaluation that assesses a dog's behavior and obedience skills in various real-life situations. It is designed to promote responsible dog ownership and well-mannered dogs in the community. The test includes exercises such as accepting a friendly stranger, walking on a loose leash, and staying calm during distractions. Dogs who pass the test are awarded a Canine Good Citizen certificate from the American Kennel Club, which can be a valuable credential for therapy dog work, certain housing situations, and other activities that require well-behaved dogs.

The CGC Test is included in our Level 3 - Advanced Learning class. If you would like to take the test independently of the class, please contact the Evaluator associated with the date of the test that you are interested in for availability.
