

HARMONIC
BRILLIANCE

2020 & BEYOND

2020 marked the beginning of an accelerated "next stage of conscious evolution" as we began to unravel, at the quantum level, distortions that have profoundly diminished our ability to operate at higher levels of consciousness.

The world was already experiencing the beginning stages of this quantum-level work, as seekers and seasoned Lightworkers around the globe felt a heightened inner calling to step more fully into our roles as agents of positive change.

However, for most, that inner calling was unclear as to what "it" actually was. It was common to question the roles, the impact, and the reason for continuing on the "spiritual path," with what was happening on a global level, adding to the frustration of not being able to "connect" with what was deeply felt in our hearts.

I have said many times, anyone who is magnetized to my work is part of a soul group of highly skilled Multidimensional Beings of Light who are here at this time in cosmic history to shift humanity's consciousness.

However, the magnitude of that statement grows as we raise our frequency and realize our true purpose and missions.

It is a sign of immense dedication to continue on this path with only an inclination in your heart that something much bigger is happening than what "meets the eye" at this level of consciousness.

Yet, you KNOW the alternative is not an option. If you are still reading this, you are here for a HUGE mission and purpose that goes way beyond your individual awakening. You are part of a team here to correct all the distortions that have occurred since "the fall" of consciousness.

www.harmonicbrilliance.com

THE GAME

In our lifetimes alone, we have witnessed extraordinary changes in the world. Technology, a global economy, the worldwide web, the introduction and acceleration of A.I., and more, all continue to modify and shape our experience within this collective holographic reality.

Many religions and belief systems reference 'a fall' from grace, Source, or consciousness at some level. However, the reference to 'the fall' in universal history goes back to the 'fall of Lyra,' a constellation in the Milky Way galaxy. This is where the 'fall' happened and the experience of separation and duality began (millions of years ago, in the construct of time).

Separation from what, you ask? Separation from Original Source energy, or lifeforce. This began an experience, which I refer to as the "deep dive" into the 'game' of duality. Why do I say game? Because it was a choice, designed to create a playing field for consciousness, Source, the Creator, to forget that they are, and always have been infinite, unlimited, expansive, and whole.

The Milky Way was quarantined, if you will, for consciousness, Beings of Light, fractals of Source, to experience what it would be like to forget. And so it began, and once cut off from Source, the need to harness lifeforce energy and the control of it began. A holographic reality was created, and the game began.

The only rules and conditions of 'the game' are that each Being who chose to participate would play equally in both good and bad, light and dark, loving in evil roles. No except. AND, all who were the original architects, the ones who 'put the holographic experience' in place, would return, at the end, to take the game or experience apart from WITHIN the experience. We are at that time in cosmic history. That time is now.

Think of the movies Free Guy, The Matrix, Star Wars, Terminator, etc. They are all what I call 'bled-through,' more accurately portraying the deep-dive experience than most would want to admit.

THE INVERTED HOLOGRAM IS COLLAPSING

We have been operating within a holographic reality, albeit an extremely convincing one, for a long time before this civilization, on this planet and countless others across the galaxy. In countless 'bodysuits' and at different levels of consciousness. As you might have suspected all along, we are definitely not alone.

Consciousness is often construed as being benevolent and good. However, consciousness is more accurately measured by the level of functional DNA a 'being or bodysuit' is operating at. And many of the races operate well above the level of human consciousness. And remember how I explained that one of the game's tenets is that we all play equally in both light and dark roles? Food for thought.

This experience is a hologram, and one that is not constructed on Organic Universal laws. The laws that govern this universe beyond the holographic matrix. We didn't play by those rules, as we scrambled, inverted, experimented with the fabric of reality, i.e., sound and light, or 'The Source Code.'

And although, at the very core, everything and I mean everything is organic Light, the magnitude of the inversions, distortions, and diabolical manipulation that has been created in the inverted universe, was all designed to keep us disconnected from Source.

But the inverted hologram is collapsing, coming apart because it's time and we 'the architects, designers of this game' are back!

THE GAME

In our lifetimes alone, we have witnessed extraordinary changes in the world. Technology, a global economy, the worldwide web, the introduction and acceleration of A.I., and more, all continue to modify and shape our experience within this collective holographic reality.

Many religions and belief systems reference 'a fall' from grace, Source, or consciousness at some level. However, the reference to 'the fall' in universal history goes back to the 'fall of Lyra,' a constellation in the Milky Way galaxy. This is where the 'fall' happened and the experience of separation and duality began (millions of years ago, in the construct of time).

Separation from what, you ask? Separation from Original Source energy, or lifeforce. This began an experience, which I refer to as the "deep dive" into the 'game' of duality. Why do I say game? Because it was a choice, designed to create a playing field for consciousness, Source, the Creator, to forget that they are, and always have been infinite, unlimited, expansive, and whole.

The Milky Way was quarantined, if you will, for consciousness, Beings of Light, fractals of Source, to experience what it would be like to forget. And so it began, and once cut off from Source, the need to harness lifeforce energy and the control of it began. A holographic reality was created, and the game began.

The only rules and conditions of 'the game' are that each Being who chose to participate would play equally in both good and bad, light and dark, loving in evil roles. No except. AND, all who were the original architects, the ones who 'put the holographic experience' in place, would return, at the end, to take the game or experience apart from WITHIN the experience. We are at that time in cosmic history. That time is now.

Think of the movies Free Guy, The Matrix, Star Wars, Terminator, etc. They are all what I call 'bled-through,' more accurately portraying the deep-dive experience than most would want to admit.

BEING AT THE FOREFRONT OF THE ASCENSION

The fabric of our reality continues to shift, crumble, and collapse as we unlock the inverted hologram and the illusion we live within.

This will continue at an unprecedented rate over the next few decades, as the fabric of reality that created the inversion is no longer available, functional, or operating at the quantum levels. There is nothing holding the inverted reality together. Why? Because we are taking it apart.

Instead of the same old patterns, experiences, game of war, competition, global control, manipulation, and more, the 'shift' in human consciousness to unlock from this game is happening now. This is what is driving you to seek, knowing there is something much bigger going on than meets the eye.

The evolutionary path, or ascension, is about reclaiming all of our 'particles of creation', all the fractals of our Unique Signature frequency, which have been playing out and holding the holographic structure of this 'game' in place.

If you are still reading this, most likely something deep inside of you knows.

My work, my purpose, and mission is to help you remember your true origins, your vast role in this 'game', and how to unlock not only yourself from the inverted hologram, but to assist you with unlocking bigger containers of this hologram you hold, so that all life may emerge from the illusion and remember.

Welcome to remembering your multi-dimensional quantum self.