

HARMONIC
BRILLIANCE

MORPHOGENETIC CHAKRAS

The Morphogenetic chakras are part of your Lightbody system. They are chakras beyond the commonly known seven chakras in the physical body, which have been taught for centuries.

As we expand our understanding of the totality of who we are, the magnitude of our Unique Signature Frequency, and the expanded nature of our Being, this framework is essential.

There are many more chakras. However, awareness of these morphogenetic chakras and the ability to consciously work with them are fundamental as we continue to unlock ourselves from the old paradigm, which keeps us connected to the reality of separation and duality.

THE CHAKRAS

The chakras most are familiar with are the physical or particle chakras and are comprised of the:

1st Base (at the base of the spine)

2nd Sacral (the womb, sexual center)

3rd Solar Plexus (between the belly button and heart chakra)

4th Heart (center of the chest)

5th Throat (center of the neck/throat)

6th Pineal (center of your head)

7th Crown (top of the head)

The Morphogenetic Chakras are anti-partical chakras and are comprised of the:

8th High Heart Chakra (located at the thymus gland)

9th Ascension Chakra or Atomic Gateway (the curve at the back of the neck)

10th Sapphire Solar Star (located 6 inches above your head)

11th The Galactic Star (approximately 18 inches above your head)

12th The Earth Star (approximately 6 inches below your feet)

13th The Universal Mother (approximately 12 inches below your feet)

14th The Universal Sun Chakra (approximately 3 ft above your head)

15th The Universal Father (in deep space)

Although much more could be written about each, this provides the basic locations within your own Lightbody fields/systems so you can begin to work with them.

MORPHOGENETIC FIELDS

Morphogenetic fields are a universal informational matrix that regulates both physical and consciousness structures. They act as a quantum interface between Sound (instruction codes) and Light (bringing those instructions into form).

This occurs at all levels (the microcosmic and macrocosmic) and is part of the mechanics of all creation.

All matter and forms of consciousness, including planetary bodies, solar systems, galaxies, and human bodies, are manifested through these morphogenetic imprints.

The morphogenetic chakras play a vital role in anchoring and embodying higher consciousness within your current level of awareness, serving as constructs that enable you to connect with higher states of consciousness.

Simply put, Chakras function as energy or informational centers.

THE CHAKRAS' MAJOR FUNCTIONS

1. To vitalize both the physical and energetic bodies, (organs, glands, as well as the auric field/Lightbody).
2. To provide the development of different aspects of self-consciousness. Each Chakra is related to a specific higher dimension of the spiritual blueprint's form and function.
3. To transmit energy between the energetic layers and the body.

Our personal blueprint is known as our Morphogenetic Field, and it extends to the planetary, Galactic, Universal, and Multiverse levels. Every person has their own set of seven major (particle) Chakras, and eight anti-particle Chakras.

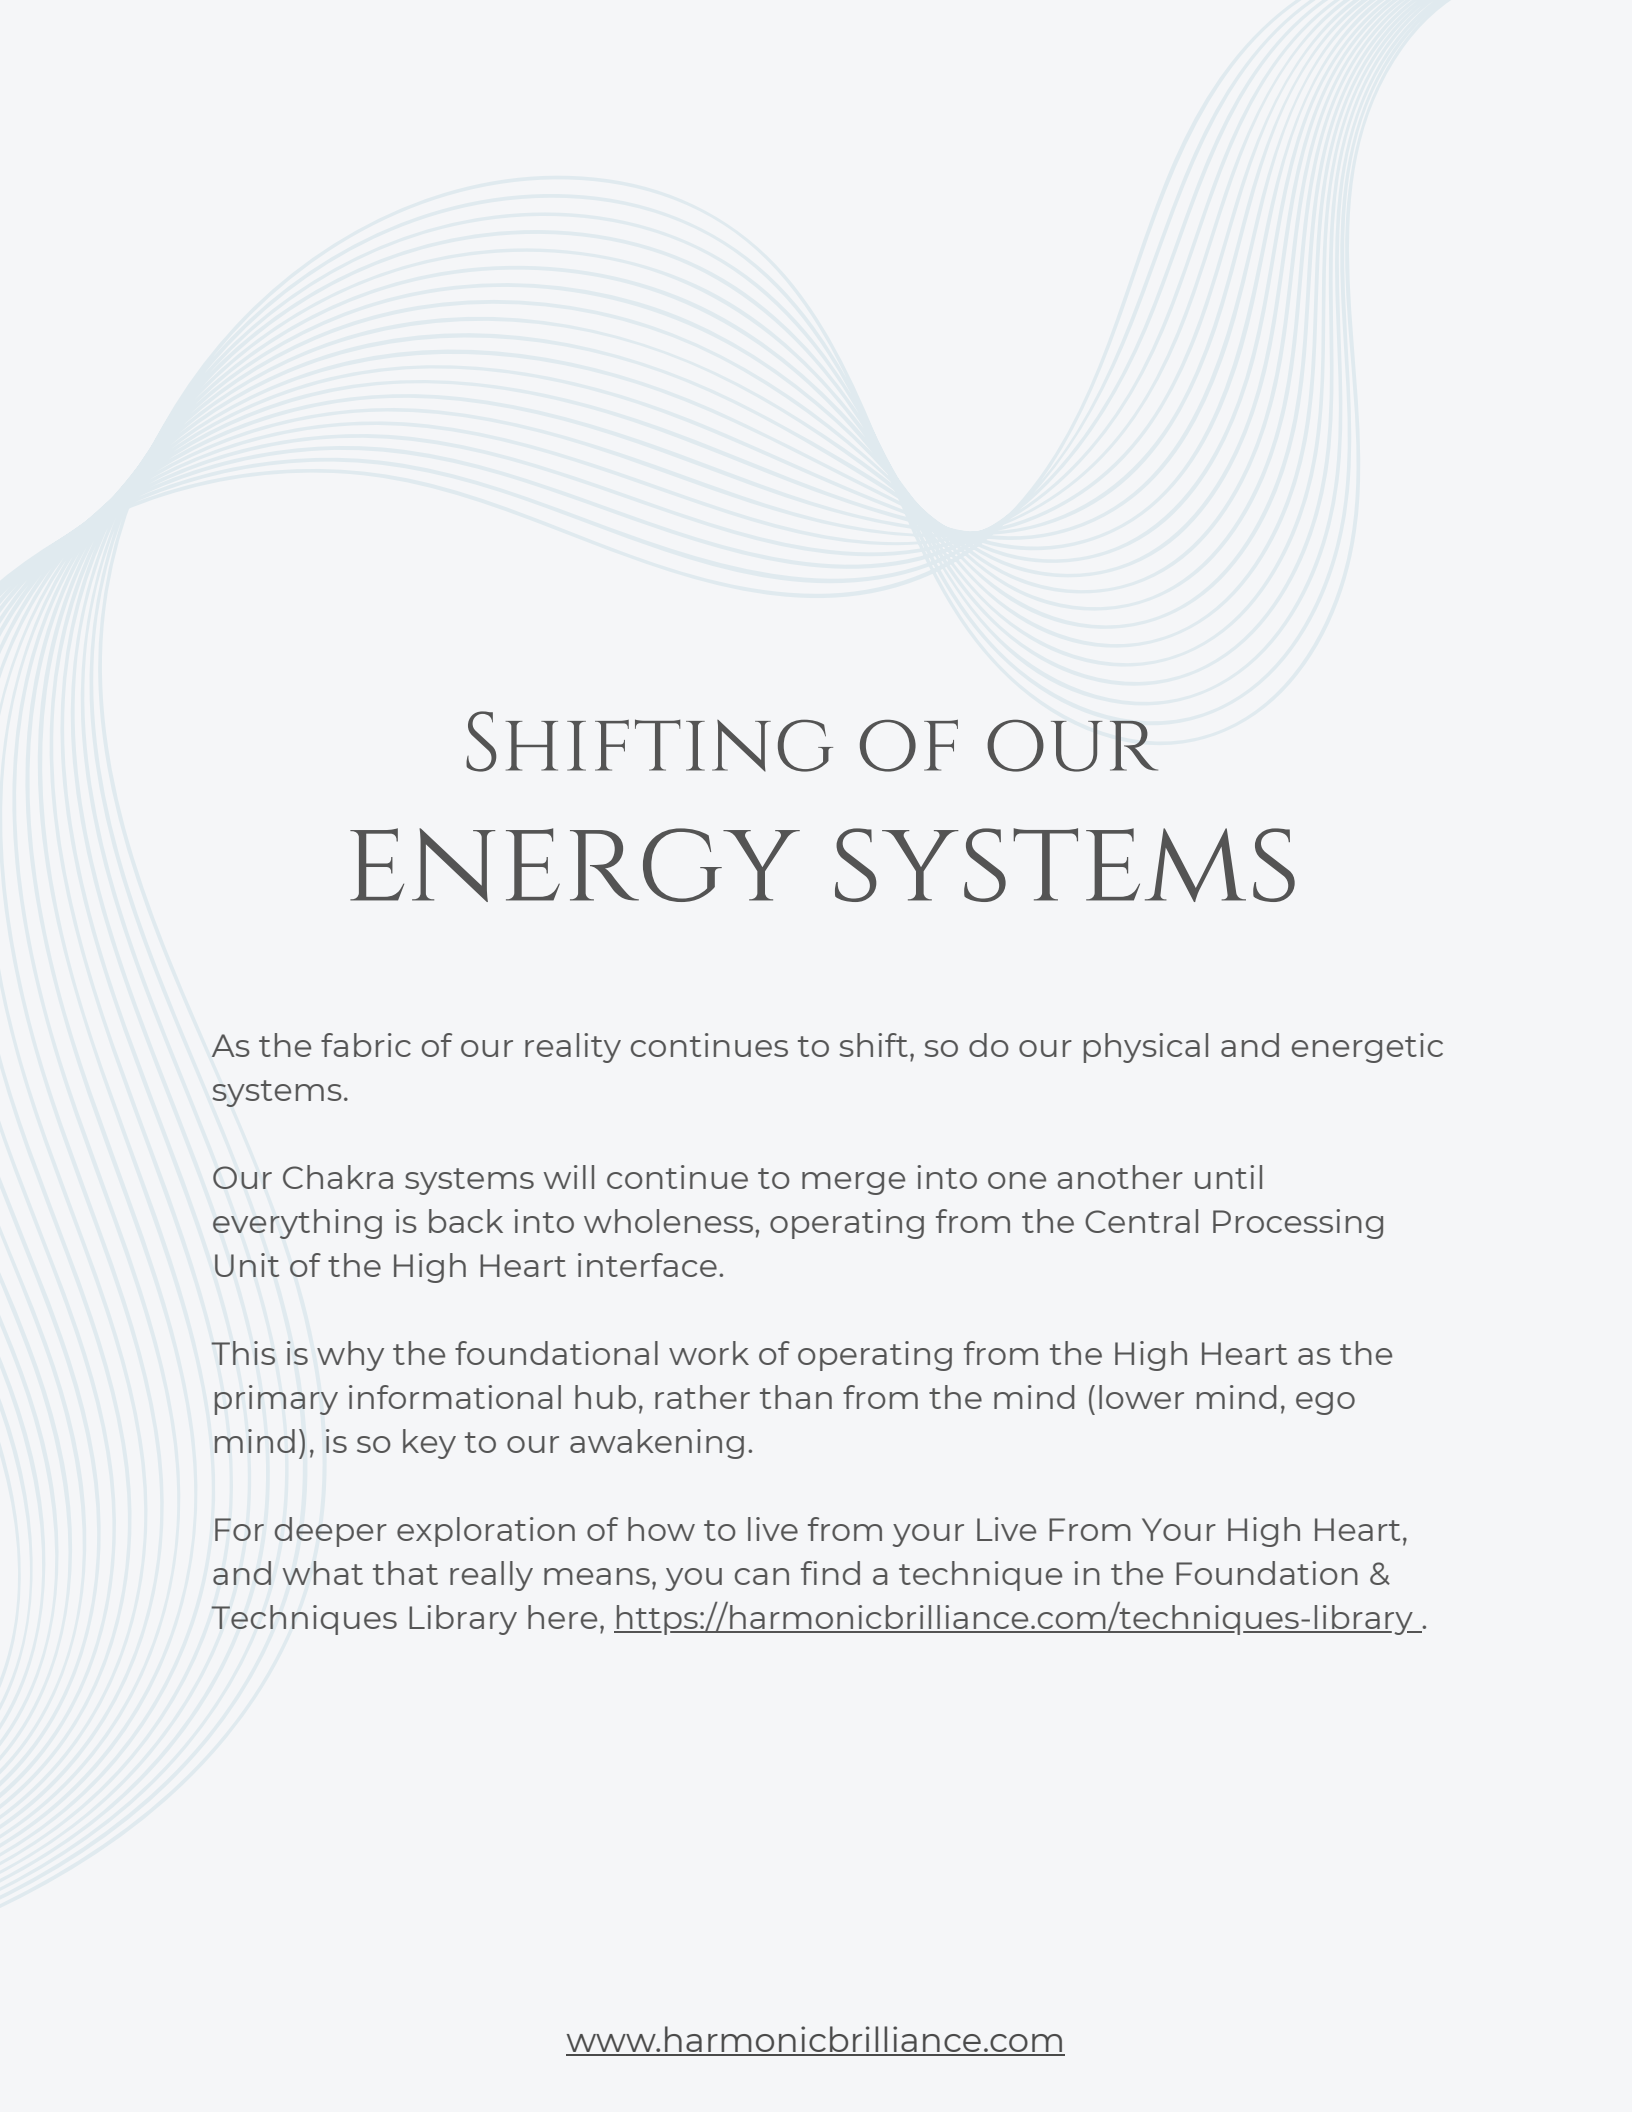

Each progressive layer exists at a higher frequency, occupying a higher frequency band than the previous one. Energy is transmitted from one layer to the next.

Most of these pathways are sealed due to blockages (emotional, mental, societal, collective, and more). They open through the intention to align with higher consciousness and wisdom, and through spiritual purification work.

Since the Chakras serve to vitalize the body, when they are dormant or blocked, they are directly related to disease.

The anti-particle chakras are Morphogenetic Chakras, and they inform the instruction sets in the lower-dimensional chakras once the system (person) is able to embody or hold the frequency.

Over time, as each person awakens and clears distortions, the chakras dissolve into one another while embodying higher-dimensional frequencies. This leads to greater awareness and perceptions beyond what they previously had access to.

SHIFTING OF OUR ENERGY SYSTEMS

As the fabric of our reality continues to shift, so do our physical and energetic systems.

Our Chakra systems will continue to merge into one another until everything is back into wholeness, operating from the Central Processing Unit of the High Heart interface.

This is why the foundational work of operating from the High Heart as the primary informational hub, rather than from the mind (lower mind, ego mind), is so key to our awakening.

For deeper exploration of how to live from your Live From Your High Heart, and what that really means, you can find a technique in the Foundation & Techniques Library here, <https://harmonicbrilliance.com/techniques-library>.