INTRODUCTION

Nicolette Halladay is the author of The Golden Thread & The Lineage of the Light and the founder of Inspired Hearts Publishing. Through her work as a publisher and storytelling guide, she helps entrepreneurs, creatives, and change-makers turn their lived experiences into powerful stories that inspire transformation.

Nicolette believes that writing a book is more than a creative project. It is an act of self-trust and a way to share the wisdom gathered through life's turning points. Her work explores themes of healing through storytelling, creative expression, and the alchemy that can emerge when we follow the deeper thread of our lives. Through her books, collaborations, and conversations, she invites others to claim their voice, share their story, and step into a more visible and meaningful impact.

SPEAKING TOPICS

- The power of storytelling to transform our lives and reconnect us with meaning and purpose.
- Writing as a path to healing, self-trust, and reclaiming your authentic voice.
- How becoming an author elevates your visibility, authority, and opportunities.
- The alchemy of goodbye: turning life's endings into growth, creativity, and new beginnings.
- How to recognize the book inside you and bring your story to life.

FUN FACTS ABOUT ME

- Colorado native who feels most at home in the mountains, on a trail, or exploring small mountain towns.
- Mom to three wild and wonderful daughters who keep life adventurous and full of laughter.
- A Pisces dreamer who feels deeply connected to water and the quiet places where inspiration flows.
- Loves meaningful conversations about life, purpose, and the stories that shape us.
- Often found journaling, dreaming up new creative projects, or following the next spark of inspiration.

Solo- Author Books

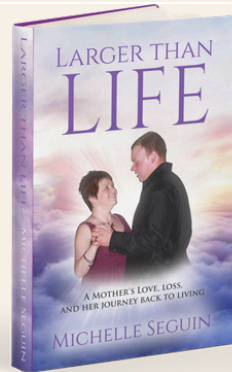

Temple of Haunted Laundry invites readers into the inner world of the Black Sheep—someone who lives outside the rules, feels deeply, and searches for meaning in life’s messier chapters. Through interconnected stories, Helen Tran blends emotional truth, cultural symbolism, and supernatural elements to explore identity, relationships, and the courage to move forward.

In Black Sheep Chronicles, Helen Tran explores the chaos unleashed by a rogue spirit from the Chinese Zodiac whose supernatural meddling turns ordinary lives into strange and unforgettable encounters.

Set against the backdrop of beginning her venture to climb the Colorado 14ers, at forty years old and a mother of four, Colorado native-born Rhiannon O’Connell embarks on a journey of healing from a life wrought with the effects of having alcoholic/addict parents and the dysfunctional, abusive relationships in adulthood that followed.

There is nothing more painful a parent can go through than the loss of a child. Unfortunately, Michelle Seguin became a part of this group. Through her open and honest storytelling, Michelle gives the reader a heartfelt insight into the realities of losing a child, the search for acceptance, and how she created a legacy of love that transcends time.

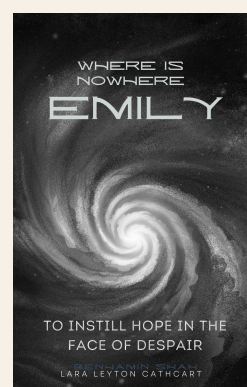

When 19-year-old Sam Safken was diagnosed with Ewing sarcoma, he and his mother documented their journey through raw, heartfelt journal entries. Before he passed, Sam asked her to share their story—a promise she fulfills in A Promise Made and A Promise Kept, a moving testament to love, resilience, and the unbreakable bond between a mother and son.

The book is a collection of shared experiences growing up with friends and family in a small San Juan Mountain town. I promise these recollections were written from a place in my heart where love lives. I loved growing up in Ouray. After all, the name of Ouray could well be “Magic.”

You found this book because you know somewhere between obtaining your license and becoming a provider or spa owner details were missing, scattered, and time consuming to locate. Every Technician who walks into the consultation room becomes the spa. This book helps bridge the gap just mentioned, give you that level up feeling to convert consultations into sales, to help clients achieve their goals.

SomeWhere was never far. It was simply waiting for me to look within.

There was a time when NoWhere felt like exile—a place of ache, silence, and unanswered questions. But everything shifted the moment Lara stopped trying to fix herself there. When she softened, stayed, and listened, the alchemy began.

From the very first moment, you'll notice how organized and thoughtful Nicolette's process is. She immediately put me at ease during a detailed and unfamiliar part of my publishing journey, and her guidance came at exactly the moment I needed it most. Nicolette is patient, supportive, and deeply knowledgeable. She is the kind of book partner every author hopes to have by their side.

My concerns were regarding the qualifications and experience required to make my book possible. I wanted to make sure that I hired someone who could understand the nature of what the book was about and meet team compatibility.

Nicolette is efficient and professional, she had the experience I was looking for and was willing to guide me in the right direction as this was my first experience in working with a Publisher. She knew which questions to ask about my book.

I have already recommended her to friends and would say that if they would like to work with a publisher who could provide the support that they are looking for, t, that Nicolette is the fit!

Amanda Cortez.

When I decided to publish my first multi-author book I knew I needed to hire a consultant who knew how to format my manuscript and navigate all the behind-the-scenes details of loading my book onto Amazon. Nicolette came highly recommended and she quickly exceeded my expectations by sharing a detailed plan to keep my publishing project on track and organized. Her kind, calm demeanor and can-do approach helped me feel supported throughout the process and she delivered on her promise to launch my book on time! I am eternally grateful for her help and would recommend her to anyone who is looking for publishing support.

More Client Love...

My favorite part of contributing to the multi-author book was the community that Nicolette gathered and held space for. I loved getting to know my co-authors and spending time with them regularly.

One of the most valuable parts of contributing to the collaborative book was building confidence in my ability to see a writing project through to completion. I write often and abundantly. That has never been my issue. The tough part for me is the refinement part that comes with editing and formatting my writing.

Working with Nicolette individually to produce my solo book has been so supportive and productive. She beautifully balances holding a space of accountability to keep me progressing with honoring my unique process to ensure I'm staying true to my energy and pacing.

I have a fair amount of experience with the process of self-publishing, but I always learn something new from Nicolette. Sometimes it is a more efficient process, other times it is a technique to help me increase visibility, or leverage my work once it is published.

Overall, I would say that having Nicolette on your team for whatever publishing project you are working on is invaluable. And to top it off, she's just a ton of fun to work with!

Regyna Curtis

Working with Nicolette on the book Sacred Self was such a joy! She has an amazing ability to bring together a diverse group of authors and draw out their unique gifts towards a cohesive creation like Sacred Self.

Nicolette brought her heart and soul into the project right from its inception and created a beautiful space for each author to shine through their work.

I walked away from this experience with immense clarity on what I stand for and lasting friendships with heart-centered women doing incredible and important work in the world. I highly recommend working with Nicolette if you have a story to tell, a book to write and want to share your message with the world.

Swati Kameswar

My favorite part of contributing to the Mystics Revealed book was the connections that were made with Nicolette and all of the contributing authors, as well as the opportunity to grow personally and witness others going through their own growth at the same time.

My personal growth was so rewarding in finally stepping through my fear of being visible, and sharing my deeply personal story out into the world farther than I ever have before. I am so grateful for this experience and the confidence it gave me to do this alongside others who were sharing their story and growing along with me. This project allowed me to fully realize my dream of creating a greater impact and ripple effect in the world with my message, and has empowered me to keep going and share what is on my heart despite the fears and uncertainty that come up, because the power of connecting with someone through my story is far greater.

Doing this together with the other authors made all the difference in being able to be vulnerable and share our feelings and support each other along the way. Having a community together creating this beautiful project has made all the difference in me ACTUALLY doing it versus "saying" I will do it. Being able to have the guidance of others who have already been through it was so incredibly helpful and amazing.

Having the knowledge, wisdom and support of Nicolette throughout this was priceless. I had no previous experience with writing or publishing, and she created an absolutely amazing container of aligned collaborators and support with every aspect of becoming an author, including not only the physical writing and steps around that, but the deeper, spiritual aspect and emotional roller coaster it is.

Nicolette shared a wealth of knowledge and laid out a very easy to follow process for the whole project. She made it very smooth and easy for me to just trust in myself and my story and gave us an incredible support system the whole way through.

I am forever grateful for finding Nicolette to help me bring my vision to life, and for cheering us on, encouraging us to trust in ourselves to bring out the most powerful message within each of us, to impact so many with this beautiful project of vulnerability and connection.

I would encourage anyone who feels that Soul pull to share a message, a story with the world, to work with Nicolette and Inspired Hearts Publishing to bring that vision to life. It has been a powerful, rewarding, life-changing experience for me.

I was a contributing author in Sacred Self Everyday Rituals for The Modern Women. Nicolette Halladay made it fun & inspiring to be apart of this passion project. I grew by being with others. I learned to trust myself and my own unique writing style.

I highly recommend becoming a co-author. It's a stepping stone of growth for writing. I also highly recommend Nicolette because of her warmth and leadership.
