

Nineteen people took their shahadah in September

Across five states our volunteers set up tables, answered questions and walked alongside people taking their first steps in Islam.

What your support made possible

Peace be upon you.

September was a month of steady, ordinary dawah. Tables set up early on quiet mornings, conversations with people who stopped to ask one question, and families coming together to welcome new Muslims. None of it is dramatic, and all of it depends on people who give their weekends and their money to this work.

Here is exactly what happened.
