FRIDAY, MARCH 20th, 1908.

W. E. Chaplin of the Laramie Republican, the dean of the Wyoming press and a man who takes a sensible view of things, recently gave the people of his town a few new ideas on supporting home institutions that are too good to be passed over lightly. He says: "Lots of people doubtless read the advice often given by newspapers to patronize home institutions with the idea that it does not apply to them, that they are privileged characters who must be permitted to buy where they please, and at the same time draw their support from the city in which they live. The patronage of home institutions is something that applies to every individual and should be practiced by all. To send away for goods is to deprive the home merchant of just that much support and nine times out of ten little or no advantage is gained thereby. At times the Republican is inclined to believe that the people of Wyoming are lacking in that sense of loyalty to their state possessed by citizens of other states. We have a case directly in point. A short time ago this office put in a full line of land office blanks and sent advertising matter to all clerks of court and United States commissioners using such blanks throughout the United States. An appeal was made to the people of the west on the ground of patronizing a western institution in preference to a Washington concern that has no interest in our institutions or our people. What was the result? From all the western public land states the response was liberal, with a single exception. Comparatively few Wyoming men placed orders, although the blanks were of equal or better quality, the price the same and they could save at least three days time by buying of their home concern. The Republican got its share of the business and has no complaint coming on that score, but not from its own people. Another case of even a more flagrant nature. Those who read the county commissioners' proceedings have noted from month to month that George D. Barnard, a St. Louis printing concern, has been doing a large share of the county printing. Last month the bills of this concern and an Omaha outfit aggregated almost two hundred and fifty dollars. This money has been sent to these outside institutions in spite of the fact that this office has stood ready at all times to do the work ordered at the same or a lesser price and equal in quality, thus keeping the money at home and employing home people. The county should be the first to set a good example to its citizens. It should at all times give its patronage to those who are struggling to build up enterprises in the west and particularly in their own towns. The amount sent out last month would have given employment to at least two people in Laramie. This article goes right to the root of the trouble with a great many towns. Disloyalty is the thing that pulls them down. If every citizen will do his part, the people of Laramie can add immensely to its business and manufacturing interests, its wealth and its population." Most of the business men of Lander are very conscientious about this matter because they need the support of the local papers every day in their fight against the mail order concerns. Occasionally, however, a traveling man comes along soliciting for an eastern printshop as a sideline and gobbles up a few orders. He can shave the price a little just as any merchant could cut the price if so disposed. Probably he offers to trick the railroad company by shipping the stationery order with groceries or some other commodity that bears a lower rate, anyway it is merely a sideline with him, perhaps he aims to make cigar money or something like that out of it and he throws off the profit. He is merely a scalper here today and gone tomorrow. This shop supports four families all of the time and a part of the time more than that. It pays a considerable amount of city, school, county and state taxes and never fails to contribute its fair share toward any public enterprise or deserving charity. There is still another feature that is worthy of passing notice. It has been found that by hawking a little job around among the shops a rivalry can sometimes be aroused and someone found who will cut the price. Is this fair and right? Why should not the printer invite bids for a sack of flour, a ton of coal, a pair of shoes, a round of drinks or anything else that he buys? He does not do this. He goes to the merchant and buys what he wants and pays the price. For that matter he has to; imagine the printer asking other business men to fight for his little bit of trade! It is absurd, but not more absurd than is the other end of the proposition.

The dirt continues to fly at Panama at a rate that promises the early completion of the Panama canal. Nearly 3,000,000 cubic yards were excavated during the month of February, and the commission expects to do better in March. The experts figure that less than 96,000,000 cubic yards of material remain to be taken from the ditch, and at the present rate of progress the excavating will all be done before January 1, 1911. The amount of excavation since April 1st last has been in excess of 18,000,000 yards, and the average has steadily risen since last November. The rapidity with which the work is being carried on under army engineers is considered highly gratifying at Washington. The rainy season may interrupt operations somewhat but the monthly output has increased so steadily that it is not believed it will cause a sufficient setback to hinder the work to a very great extent.

The Cheyenne Tribune's state writeup last week was a very good one from every point of view. It will undoubtedly be of much benefit to every county in the state.

Regulations Providing for the Eradication of Scabies (Mange), Itch and Lice in Cattle.

Cheyenne, March 7, 1908.

To whom it May Concern:—

It is hereby ordered that all cattle in the counties of Laramie, Albany, Carbon, Converse, Natrona, Fremont and Weston shall be inspected. All cattle in the above named territory that are found upon inspection by the State Veterinarian or his deputies, or by an inspector of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, to be infected with Scabies (Mange) or itch, shall be dipped twice, ten (10) days apart, in a dip approved by the Bureau of Animal Industry, or shall be sprayed or dipped once in a 20 per cent. solution of crude oil emulsion, prepared according to the Government formula, between the fifteenth day of March and the first day of July, 1908.

All dipping must be supervised by a State or Government Inspector.

Wm. F. Pflaeging,
State Veterinarian.

Contest Notice.

Department of the Interior,
United States Land Office,
Lander, Wyoming,
March 9th, 1908.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by John L. Snow of Circle, Wyoming, contestant, against homestead entry No. 176, made Aug. 20, 1906, for lots 2 and 3 Sec. 21, W½ NW¼, NW¼ SW¼, Section 22, Township 6 N., Range 6 W., by Alfred Fike, Contestee, in which it is alleged that Alfred Fike has wholly abandoned said tract for more than six months last past; that he never resided upon said lands; that he never built a house upon said lands; that he never made any improvements thereon of any description whatever; and that said alleged absence from the said land was not due to his employment in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States as a private soldier, officer, seaman, or marine during the war with Spain, or during any other war in which the United States may be engaged. Said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation at 10 o'clock a. m. on May 14th, 1908 before Frank A. Welty, U. S. Commissioner, at Dubois, Wyoming (and that final hearing will be held at 10 o'clock a. m. on May 23rd, 1908 before) the Register and Receiver at the United States Land Office in Lander, Wyoming.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed January 8th, 1908, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

William T. Adams,
Register.
