What Your Scan Suggests Supporting

Your scan looks at a variety of nutritional and wellness areas to help narrow down what may deserve attention based on your individual results.

Based on this client's scan and the concerns she shared, her results pointed most strongly toward:

Inflammation Support • Circulatory Wellness • Foundational Metabolic & Thyroid Support

Inflammation & Recovery Support

This client identified inflammation as one of her primary concerns. Her individual scan selected two recommendations that specifically included inflammation support among their listed purposes.

This made inflammation an especially relevant wellness area to consider based on both what she was experiencing and what appeared in her individual results.

One of Her Personalized Recommendations

Capsicum

Selected for support that includes cardiovascular health and inflammation, making it particularly relevant to this client's inflammation concern and broader circulatory wellness.

Why this matters: Your recommendations aren't chosen simply because you check a box saying you're tired, stressed, bloated, or not sleeping well. Your individual scan helps narrow down which specific support may be worth considering for YOU.

Your results and recommendations will be based on your own individual scan.
