COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP

Sisters Excelling Everyday
Virginia Gray Scholarship - Secretary

ASYA SHAHEEDDAVIS is a second generation muslim who began her education in Al-Islam at the Sister Clara Muhammad School in the early 70s on Wilson Street. She is the daughter of one of the original trustees and first serving treasures of the Muslim Community Cultural Center. She has bare witnessed and experienced what dedication, integrity, sacrifice, honesty, and moral compass looked like in watching her father serve Allah as well as the community. His selflessness and sweat equity is woven in the fabric of every inch of the Masjids he was a member of. Those qualities she models herself after since her election on the board in the early 2000s. She has helped cook for fundraisers, assisted with the weekend school, as well as becoming its principal while serving as a board member. She has coordinated the children's gifts and activities for the Eid celebrations for several years. She brings commitment, consistency, integrity, and a willingness to work collaboratively with others as we all strive to be counted among the ranks of those believers working to please Allah.

With over 20 years of proven leadership in supervisory and management roles, Ms. Shaheeddavis brings a wealth of experience in team development, operational oversight, and organizational improvement. Her background includes hiring, onboarding, and training diverse staff teams, ensuring smooth integration and high performance from day one. She has consistently led efforts in conducting annual performance evaluations, providing constructive feedback and fostering professional growth in individuals and departments alike.

Throughout her career, Ms. Shaheeddavis has been instrumental in developing and writing Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) tailored to improve efficiency, compliance, and consistency across operations. Her approach combines strategic thinking with hands-on management, creating environments where both people and processes thrive. She believes in cultivating strong workplace cultures grounded in accountability, collaboration, and continuous improvement.

As the Chairman of the Board for the Muslim Community Cultural Center, Ms. Shaheeddavis is excited about the direction and renewed energy of the members of the cultural center as they share with the board ideas and projects that bring a sense of new beginnings, collaborative efforts, and accountability.
