BILL BANTA

CEO, Elevated Worldwide

Bill Banta is the CEO of Elevated Worldwide. He grew up in a blue-collar family where, as he puts it, "We were either going to be farmers, or we were going to be laborers." He went into construction and real estate, built a business, and has spoken openly about losing it all.

Bill calls Bob Proctor his mentor of years and worked alongside him. His teaching centers on a distinction he returns to often: self-development is collecting information, and developing self is letting it change you. In his words, success is not a secret, it's a system.

Bill co-wrote the free book PowerJumps with Tony Child and Nicole Kernohan, teaches on Elevated's live calls, and lives in Idaho.

SIGNATURE TALKS

01 Don't Waste Your Failures: Turning Setbacks Into Training

Bill built a business and lost it, and not wasting that failure led him to this work. How to let a setback become training instead of a repeat.

02 Over-Informed, Under-Implemented: Closing the Knowing-Doing Gap

Most leaders don't need more information. A simple decide-commit-review loop turns one idea into a habit.

03 You Won't Outperform Your Identity

How self-image quietly caps pricing, delegation and growth, and the shifts a leader can model for the team.
