AI LEGAL IMPLICATIONS TABLE-TOPS

Private AI-LIT for Your Company

A private AI-LIT brings the full one-day exercise to your company, run by Piovra AI Law LLP inside a legal engagement, under attorney-client privilege.

Your IT team handles the AI incident. Your board and executives handle what comes next. It's practice, not an audit. You choose whether the scenario uses your own policies or a case built for your market.

THE ENGAGEMENT

How the Engagement Works

1. Onboarding. We set up the engagement.
2. Current-state assessment. We learn where your company stands today.
3. AI-LIT baseline. Your board and executives see where they stand before governance is written.
4. Governance (re)written together. Counsel reviews each AI use before it goes live, and your policies, procedures, and plans are built as you adopt, aligned to the NIST AI RMF, with vendor contracts reviewed.
5. AI-LIT again. Counsel sees how your leadership works through the decisions now that the governance is in place.

Both AI-LIT sessions run under attorney-client privilege.

FOR YOUR TEAM

Private, full day

Your team, together. Bring the team. They test how they work together under pressure.

Trust built under pressure. They come out respecting each other's judgment when it counts.

WHAT YOU WALK OUT WITH

What your leaders walk out with

A Spot the issues through two lenses at once: risk and liability.

B Know where each role's authority ends, and who owns what.

C Know when legal belongs in the room. Usually earlier than anyone thinks.

D See how budget sets the defense you can actually afford.

E Read a vendor contract for the exposure it creates years later.

F Map the handoffs before the incident, not during.

Find your gaps, then decide: build the strength in-house, or bring it in.
