On May 27, the Governor called a Special Session of the Florida Legislature from June 1 until June 3 to consider a proposed property tax amendment to be placed on the November ballot.

If passed by the voters, the proposed amendment would increase the Homestead Exemption to $150,000 the first year; increase the exemption amount to $250,000 the second year; and the Florida Legislature would then create a schedule to ultimately eliminate homesteaded property taxes. If approved by the Florida voters, the amendment would take effect on January 1, 2027.

It should be noted the constitutional amendment will apply to all taxing authorities except the school board.

This information includes the average savings for homesteaded property owners along with the fiscal impact on local government.

This data analysis is provided for informational purposes only and does not represent an official position on the proposed amendment.
