1. What cookies are

Cookies are small text files a website stores in your browser. They can be strictly necessary for the site to function, or serve comfort and analytics purposes.

2. What this site uses

This website runs on the CharlieLounge / LeadConnector platform, which sets the following:

- Strictly necessary cookies — security and bot protection by our hosting infrastructure (Cloudflare, cookie `__cf_bm`, lifetime under one hour). These do not require consent.
- Functional cookies — a platform visitor identifier (`msgsndr_id`) that makes the booking calendar and the checklist form work correctly, for example connecting your form submission to the checklist email you requested. This site does not use analytics or advertising cookies.

We use UTM parameters in links to understand which of our own channels (for example LinkedIn or our emails) visitors arrive from. UTM parameters are part of the link, not cookies, and identify a channel, not a person.

3. Managing cookies

You can delete or block cookies in your browser settings at any time. Blocking strictly necessary cookies may prevent the booking calendar or the checklist form from working.
